The Maharaja Bodhchandra College holds a unique place in history, as its land was graciously donated by His Highness Okendrajit Leishemba, in memory of his revered father, the late Maharaja Bodhchandra Leishemba. Situated in the heart of Imphal City, the college serves predominantly the rural student population, with over 80% hailing from economically disadvantaged backgrounds in the Imphal Valley districts and hilly regions.

The college's establishment stems from a noble ambition: to provide education to grassroots levels and uplift the most underprivileged sections of society. Female mentors play a crucial role, regularly meeting with girl students to address their challenges and offer solutions, particularly focusing on their emotional well-being. Mentor-faculty provide tailored counseling to all students, emphasizing holistic development.

Physical activities are strongly encouraged to foster physical fitness, teamwork, discipline, and overall well-being. Embedded in its vision and mission statements, the college is committed to the all-round development of its students while striving for excellence in education and community service.

The Maharaja Bodhchandra College stands out for its dedication to inclusivity, empowerment, and service to society, symbolizing its goal of "Education for All".
